

Nutrient Cycle

The nutrient cycle is nature's recycling system. Nutrients move from the physical environment into living organisms and then back to start the cycle over again.

